A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

The New Year is here and so is your new slate of officers. I want to first thank Arlie Tempel, Pat Payton, and Pam Wolkowitz for jobs very well done. They have been very active in many functions and are instrumental to the success of the society. We hope that Arlie and Pat will continue to offer assistance to our new board and membership. We are lucky that Pam has accepted the role of Vice-President so we will continue to benefit from her dynamic role in the society. Your new slate of officers comes from a wide range of backgrounds or should I say “gardens”. Let me introduce them to you:

Dave Poos – Treasurer. Dave gardens in Crestwood on an acre of ground. He has over 600 hosta varieties as well as 1000’s of daylilies. Dave’s and his wife, Joan’s, garden is nothing short of an artist’s palette. Dave will undoubtedly prove to be a meticulous and valuable Treasurer and Board Member.

Joan Hummel – Secretary. Joan gardens in Wildwood on 12 acres. She and her husband Larry are avid outdoors people. From wildlife to wild flowers they are a wealth of knowledge. Joan is one of the original founders of the St. Louis Hosta Society and we are honored to have her back as an officer.

Pam Wolkowitz – Vice President. Pam gardens near Hillsboro on a high hilltop. Pam and her husband, Chester, are tireless at turning rocky soil into fertile gardens. With over 600 hostas and tons of new soil they seem to have endless energy. Pam was an unfailingly reliable secretary and we will certainly enjoy her sunny nature as the Vice-President.

Jeff Hall – President. I garden on almost 3 acres in Sunset Hills. Kelly and I recently moved and we are in the process of developing new gardens. The list of projects never seems to end. I am very much looking forward to my term as your new President.

We all invite you to give us your ideas. This society is just as much about Hostas as it is about you. Let us know what is important to you with regard to meeting ideas, garden tour ideas, etc. This will be a busy year as you can see from the calendar of events. We have added a few extra events, and we may start having a few meetings at the Missouri Botanical Garden. We will also continue with the evening garden walks. If you would like to have your garden open for an evening please let us know.

As always, anyone in the society is welcome (and encouraged) to attend board meetings. I look forward to an exciting year with the St. Louis Hosta Society.

It’s 2008 – June is SHOW TIME

The spotlight’s on us as we show off our city, our gardens and most importantly our society to fellow hosta lovers from around the world. Success depends on you. Conventions don’t just ‘happen’! It takes leadership and lots of helping hands. Leadership we have; it’s all those ‘helping hands’ that must step forward now.

What’s a person to do?

- Have a lot of time or Just a few hours
- Can do a big job or Some small ones
- Work before the convention or During the convention
- Solicit items for ‘goodie bags’ or Help stuff the bag
- Assist a leaf show judge or Carry vases/clean up

Sit at the registration desk, help with banquet table decorations, make phone calls, move pots around, help check in auction plants, aid a vendor, bake cookies, staff the hospitality room – many jobs, large and small await you.

Be part of the excitement!

Hosts Joan and Larry Hummel

Hosta Society Holiday Party

What an awesome sight awaited holiday revelers at the St. Louis Hosta Society’s holiday party hosted by members Joan and Larry Hummel. Their home, situated on a heavily wooded lot near Rockwoods Reservation, was aglow with lights from the entrance to their lane to the upper windows of their beautiful home. An enormous Christmas tree, brushing against the 10 foot ceiling of the parlor, glistened with sparkling fish, glass balls, Santas, balloons and hundreds of other ornaments, many designed by Christopher Radko. It took Joan three days to wrap the mighty tree branches with white lights and hang the sets of ornaments - each in its own section of the tree.

Every way one turned, Joan's collections delighted the eye. From the plate ledge near the ceiling of the kitchen to the Early American corner cabinets, from the top of the mantle to every tabletop, space was overflowing with sleds and santas and carolers and trees of every size. A glance from the window revealed real deer in the side and front yards. They seemed to lament, just as we, that hosta season was still months away.

Guests enjoyed the delicious culinary efforts of their fellow gardeners. Between mouthfuls of dip, barbeque meatballs, cheeses of many varieties and delicious cookies, the talk was of hostas, the fast approaching Convention, the football playoffs and the joys of the holiday. A good time was had by all - we thank Joan and Larry for their gracious hospitality.

A Taste of Gardening in January

One hundred and fifty hearty souls braved frigid temperatures to attend the 2008 Winter Scientific Meeting in the Chicago suburb of Schaumburg on January 19. It was an opportunity to say ‘hello’ to new hosta lovers, say ‘how’ve you been’ to old hosta friends and listen to interesting speakers.

Glen Herold claims he’s a ‘bark man’. He introduced us to phloem, xylem and lenticels as he navigated through the many patterns of tree bark. We learned what’s going on inside the tree that results in its groovy outside appearance. Next time you are bending over to look at that hosta leaf, note the tree behind it.

Looking for something unique for your shade areas, try arisaemas. From our native jack-in-the-Pulpit to the new Asian species, these bizarre plants are bound to elicit comments from visitors to your garden. Watch which variety you choose - its odoriferous ‘fragrance’ might chase all those visitors away.

Besides the arisaemas, Dave Wanninger of Klehm’s Song Sparrow Farm nursery presented slides of numerous low maintenance perennials. By ‘low maintenance’ he meant the plant must be long lived, vigorous but non invasive, few disease problems, needing no staking and minimal dividing, deadheading and cleanup. He listed specific varieties that will perform well here in our Midwestern gardens.

Oh yes, the symposium was sponsored by a hosta club. We did hear about hostas! Doug Beilstein made it sound easy to successfully grow those seeds the bees pollinated on your prize hostas. He encouraged us to play Mother Nature and dab a bit of pollen, explaining which parents to choose, how to do it and what to expect from the offspring. He enthusiastically exhorted us to ‘give it a try’, ‘what do you have to lose’, and ‘it might even be fun’.

The day long event ended with Mark Zilis’ yearly selection of a ‘hosta of distinction’. This year he departed from his usual selection of a plant to focus on Midwest hybridizers and their introductions. Some names, such as Don Dean and Randy Goodwin, were known to most of us but others were not.

What a wonderful way to spend a cold January weekend.

‘In the depth of winter, I finally learned that within me there lay an invincible summer’
